Song of the Printer.

Pick and click
Goes the type in his stick,
As the printer stands at his case;
His eyes glance quick, and his fingers pick
The type at a rapid pace;
And one by one as the letters go,
Words are piled up steady and slow—
Steady and slow,
But still they grow.
And words of fire they soon will glow;
Wonderful words, that without a sound
Traverse the earth to its utmost bound;
Words that shall make
The tyrant quake
And the fetters of the oppressed shall break.
Words that can crumble an army's might,
Or treble its strength in a righteous fight.
Yet the type they look but leaden and dumb
As he puts them in place with finger and thumb;
But the printer smiles,
And his work beguiles
By chaunting a song as the letters he piles.
With pick and click,
Like the world's chronometer, tick! tick! tick!

O, where is the man wit', such simple tools
Can govern the world like I?
With a printing press, an iron stick,
And a little leaden die,
With paper of white, and ink of black,
I support the Right, and the Wrong a tack.

Say, where is he, or who may he be,
That can rival the printer's power?
To no monarchs that live, the wail doth he give—
Their sway lasts only an hour;
While the printer still grows, and God only knows
When his might shall cease to tower!

Great Cavalry Fight of the War.

BY JOHN ESTEN COOKE.

At daylight a long roll of thunder came up from the woods of the Rappahannock. The greatest cavalry combat of the war had begun.

At that sound Stuart leaped to the saddle and rode rapidly towards the front. Ten minutes afterwards his headquarters had vanished. On the green slope of Fleetwood not a tent was visible.

Is the reader familiar with the country along the Upper Rappahannock? If so he will remember that the river is crossed in Culpepper by numerous fords. The principal—beginning on the left, that is to say, up the river—are the railroad bridge and Kelley's fords.

Stuart's left under W. H. F. Lee was opposite Welford's, his centre under Jones, opposite Beverly's; his right under Hampton, toward's Kelley's, and a force under Robertson was posted in the direction of Stevensburg to guard the right flank.

This force amounted to seven or eight thousand cavalry.

The Federal column which now advanced to attack it, is said to embrace the cavalry of Gen. Hooker's army and must have numbered more than twelve thousand sabres.

Stuart rode on rapidly down Fleetwood Hill, and was soon opposite Beverly's Ford where the enemy had crossed in force. Gen. Jones was heavily engaged, and the Napoleons of the horse artillery were roaring steadily. Every moment the round shot crashed through the woods about three hundred yards in front of the pieces, where the dismounted cavalry of the regiment had effected a lodgment. They kept up a hot fire at the cannoneers, and the steady rattle of carbines further up the river told that Lee was also engaged.

In face of the bursting shell, the blue "tirailleurs" could not advance and Stuart sent a order to Hampton to move in and attack on the right.

The troopers of the Gulf States advanced at the word; their dense columns were soon moving, with drawn sabres across the plain; the moment of decisive struggle seemed rapidly approaching when suddenly a heavy blow was struck at Stuart's rear.

I had been directed by him to ascertain if "everything had been sent off from Fleetwood," and to see that no papers had been dropped there in the hurry of departure. Going back at a gallop I soon reached the hill and rode over the ground recently occupied as headquarters. The spot seemed swept. Not a paper was visible. All that I could see was a withered boquet, dropped by some young officer of the staff—a relic no doubt of the last night's ball at the village.

I had already turned to ride back to Stuart, when my attention was attracted by a column of cavalry advancing straight on Brandy—that is upon Stuart's rear. What force was that? Could it be the enemy? It was coming the direction of Stevensburg; but how could it have passed our force there?

"Look!" I said to an officer of the horse artillery, "look! what column is that?"

"It must be Wickham's," was his reply.

"I am sure they are Yankees."

"Impossible!" he exclaimed.

But our doubts were soon terminated.

From the rapidly advancing column two guns shot out and unlimbered. Then two puffs of smoke spouted from their muzzles and the enemy's shell burst directly in our faces.

The horse artillery returned the fire, and I hastened back with the intelligence to Stuart.

"It is only a squadron I suppose," he replied with great coolness. "Go back and get all the cavalry you can and charge the guns and bag them."

Hastening back, I came up with two regiments, and then ascended the hill at full gallop, leaping the ravines and darting towards the crest.

Suddenly it blazed with staggering volleys. The Federal cavalry had rushed straight across the fields towards the hill—ascended its western slope as we ascended the eastern, and met us. Coming in squadron front they struck the Confederate advancing in columns of fours, and in confusion from the rough ground. They recoiled—were thrown in disorder, and with loud cheers the enemy swarmed all over Fleetwood Hill.

The battle seemed lost. Stuart was cut off and hemmed in between two powerful bodies of Federal cavalry, supported by infantry and artillery.

All that saved us at that moment was the "do or die" fighting of cavalry and horse artillery.

On the crest of Fleetwood took place a bitter and obstinate struggle. It was one of those fights of the giants, which once witnessed is never forgotten. The cannoneers of the horse artillery fought as savagely, hand to hand, as the regular cavalry, and the crest became the scene of a mad wrestle rather of wild beasts than men.

All at once the form of Davenant appeared amid the smoke. He had come rapidly from the front, and now threw himself into the combat like the bloody hound to which Stuart had compared him. His cheeks were flushed, his eyes fiery. Leaping from his horse, he seized the sponge staff of a gun, from which all the cannoneers had been driven, and ramming home a charge of canister, directed the gun upon a column of the enemy.

Before he could fire, a Federal cavalryman rode at him, and cut furiously at his bare head with the full weight of the sabre.

Davenant did not try to draw his sword—the attempt would have been useless in his hands he had a weapon, and with a swing of the rammer he swept the cavalryman from the saddle.* He fell headlong covered with blood and Davenant aimed and fired the load of canister—leaped upon his horse, and drawing his sword, plunged into the melee, his head bare, his eyes flaming his voice rising loud and inspiring above the combat.

It was a superb struggle. Three times the enemy's guns were charged and captured; three times the Confederates were furiously charged in turn, and the pieces captured by the enemy. A final charge of the grey cavalry carried all before it. The Federal artillery were seized upon and their cavalry driven back—but at that moment a heavier force still was seen advancing upon Stuart from the direction of Kelley's Ford.

It was a splendid spectacle. They came on in solid column, and rapidly formed a line of battle on the slope of Fleetwood, with drawn sabres, and floating flags. As they moved, they seemed to shake the very ground. I had never seen so great a force of cavalry drawn up, and the critical moment of the battle had plainly come.

At that instant the great field presented a remarkable appearance. Cavalry were charging in every direction, and it was hard to tell friend from foe. Stuart was fighting, so to say, from the centre outwards. The enemy were in his front in his rear, and on both his flanks. If they closed in, apparently, he would be crushed as in a vice. The iron hand would strangle him.

That moment tested the nerves. Stuart's "heart of oak" bore the strain. He was aroused, stung, his cheeks burned his eyes flamed—but the man was sufficient for the work. I looked closely at him. "Do or die" was plain on his face. From that instant I never had any doubts about Stuart.

He rushed two pieces of artillery to a knoll in front of the line of Federal horsemen. A moment afterwards two reports were heard, and two shells burst precisely in the middle of the line, making a wide gap in it, and checking the charge which had begun.

All at once I saw a column of cavalry coming up from the river, and turning to Stuart, said:

"General, what cavalry is that?"

"Hampton's!" Stuart exclaimed—"Bring it up like lightning!"†

I set out at full gallop, and soon reached the column. At the head of it rode Young, the BEAU SABREUR of Georgia, erect, gallant, with his brave eye and smile.

I pointed out the enemy and gave the order.

"All right!" exclaimed Young, and turning to his men, he whirled the sabre around his head and shouted, "forward!"

The column thundered on, and as it passed, I recognized Mohun, his flashing eye and burnished sabre gleaming from the dust cloud.

"Charge!" rose from a hundred lips. Spurs were buried in the hot flanks; the mass hurled at the enemy; and clashing like thunder sword against sword, swept everything before it. Not a single shot was fired—the sabre only was used. The enemy were broken to pieces; what I saw was a wild melee of whirling swords, flying horses, men cloven to the chin, while others were seen throwing themselves from the saddle and raising their hands to escape the keen swordsmen slashing at them.

The great force of the enemy sweeping down on Stuart's flank was thus routed. The spectacle that followed was ludicrous as well as exciting. The enemy fled in disorder. Never before had I seen the nails in the hind shoes of hundreds of horses; myriads of horses' tails streaming like meteors as they ran!

The force disappeared in the woods, hotly pursued by their foes. The dust followed them in a great cloud; from that cloud arose yells and cheers, cannons thundered, carbines rattled; but sound receded more and more rapidly towards the river.

On our left, the brave Wm. F. H. Lee had been successful. He had charged and repulsed the enemy, falling wounded at the head of his men. They had not again advanced upon him. Near the Barbour House he presented an unbroken front to them.

Stuart held with his cavalry, indeed, the whole Fleetwood range. The long thunder of his artillery said to the enemy,

"Come on!"

They did not come. They went back.

Their cavalry had crossed the river to ascertain the meaning of the great review. They had discovered nothing, after heavy loss. The ground was strewed with their dead and dying. They retired shattered and bleeding.

Stuart's lost was also great. Even his staff was not spared. One of my brother staff officers was killed, another wounded, a third captured.

But Stuart had won the greatest cavalry fight of the war.—[From "Mohun; or, The Last Days of Lee and His Cavaliers."

☞The Owensboro Shield says: "Some days ago at a house used by a certain neighborhood between Cromwell and Caney, in Ohio county as a church and school house, two preachers of different persuasions met. It appears that one of them had made the appointment, and before he arrived the other occupied the stand. After services they quarreled, but no blows were struck between them. The excitement spread to a more or less extent throughout the congregation until two women met who were at variance. Without any preliminaries, one pitched at the other like an infuriated cat. They clinched, and such pulling of hair, scratching, and screaming no person ever saw in church before."

CYNTHIANA NEWS.

CYNTHIANA, KY.

TUESDAY, FEB. 23, 1869

A. J. MOLEY, Editor.

Democratic. Right or Wrong.

☞ Los Mahaw was 19 anniversary of Washington's birth day. It was celebrated in many of the towns of the South with parades and balls. The great Ball, however, was reserved for the Capital. It was a tremendous occasion, as the American Army under General Taylor, had to conquer, or the last dance perish. They were equal to the occasion, and several of the belles of that State (Kentucky) fell victims to Mr. Harrison's charms. Long life to Los. how-de-do.

After we had written the above, and read it to parties interested, who say it is truthful, we learn that this Friday night, on the Licking river, just below Cynthiana, Mr. Wm. Legg, in Mexico, which is 3 miles west of Colonel Henry Clay's residence, the killing of which created such excitement, and for which many were held to answer, and several were indicted, but never tried. The Legg was found, and the man "arrested the third," Sheriff Berry, was among the 20 citizens.

"Enquirer" is really good-natured.

Oldtime Paraphae.

Let us direct the attention of the tax-payers of Harrison county, and especially those who are to vote, and to purchase stock, and to work, to the fact that Licking river will be closed to obstruction this coming spring and summer, and hence a great deal of timber will be landed and hereafter can be had at a reasonable price. Oregon, and the Pacific coast is to furnish us lumber at less than eighty dollars per hundred, and can be brought to this place for ten cents—among the cheapest and best pine timber in the world. The highest price ever paid for a log was $1,000 for eighteen feet. The present price is from $100 to $200. This place is particularly favorable, and the largest school-boy cannot but see that its value is to us a people, is inestimable.

Mr. Spencer's have never asked for a better proposition. Each tax-payer should be satisfied with cold water (cheaper per bottle—and it has been asserted that neat's foot oil would embalm here immediately. It is a guide to forbidden fruit—open with any prices paid by others in other portions of the county.

Cynthiana, With these remarks, would take pleasure in offering to WM. and every other citizen of Harrison County, the services of the undersigned, to survey the lands over and above the Licking river, and Harrison county, and will do it cheap for cash, or on short time.

Respectfully,
JOHN A. MOLEY.

FRIEND MOLEY:—Having been a subscriber to the NEWS, from the beginning of its existence, and would still like to continue so, but I am compelled to make complaint against somebody. It seems that since I requested you to forward my paper to Lair's Station, I never have been in receipt of but one paper in the last five weeks—other persons receive it at Lair's. If I cannot get the NEWS regularly, I will be compelled to discontinue it. I hope, however, that you will find out where the wrong is and correct it and if I don't receive it regularly in the future, I will notify you to discontinue it, which I will be very sorry to do.

With fraternal regards,
I am, yours, &c.

We wish the postmaster or the person who has charge of the delivery of the mails, would be a little more careful in future; there must be something wrong somewhere, as the papers are mailed regularly from our office, and if they go astray we are not to blame.

INSURANCE.—Insurance is something that every individual should look to, who holds in his or her possession, perishable property. In this day and generation, no one is excusable, who does not insure. A per centage on all that is made is only necessary to save one from ruin, and no kind of procrastination should hold an individual from an underwriter's office one moment. Fire cometh like a thief, oftimes in the night, and all our possessions turn to ashes before our eyes, and we are left penniless in the world. But when the fire cometh, and the owner of the property has a policy in the "Enterprise," or "Hartford Fire," or the "Insurance Co. of North America," for the value of said property, the owner can laugh the Fire Fiend out of countenance, and say "that no wild flames of fire shall blast my hopes." Mr. J. S. Withers at the Commercial Bank in this city, is the agent for these companies. Call and see him.

They were equal to the occasion, and several of the belles of that State (Kentucky) fell victims to Mr. Harrison's charms. Long life to Los. how-de-do.

After we had written the above, and read it to parties interested, who say it is truthful, we learn that this Friday night, on the Licking river, just below Cynthiana, Mr. Wm. Legg, in Mexico, which is 3 miles west of Colonel Henry Clay's residence, the killing of which created such excitement, and for which many were held to answer, and several were indicted, but never tried. The Legg was found, and the man "arrested the third," Sheriff Berry, was among the 20 citizens.

"Enquirer" is really good-natured.

Oldtime Paraphae.

Let us direct the attention of the tax-payers of Harrison county, and especially those who are to vote, and to purchase stock, and to work, to the fact that Licking river will be closed to obstruction this coming spring and summer, and hence a great deal of timber will be landed and hereafter can be had at a reasonable price. Oregon, and the Pacific coast is to furnish us lumber at less than eighty dollars per hundred, and can be brought to this place for ten cents—among the cheapest and best pine timber in the world. The highest price ever paid for a log was $1,000 for eighteen feet. The present price is from $100 to $200. This place is particularly favorable, and the largest school-boy cannot but see that its value is to us a people, is inestimable.

Mr. Spencer's have never asked for a better proposition. Each tax-payer should be satisfied with cold water (cheaper per bottle—and it has been asserted that neat's foot oil would embalm here immediately. It is a guide to forbidden fruit—open with any prices paid by others in other portions of the county.

Cynthiana, With these remarks, would take pleasure in offering to WM. and every other citizen of Harrison County, the services of the undersigned, to survey the lands over and above the Licking river, and Harrison county, and will do it cheap for cash, or on short time.

Respectfully,
JOHN A. MOLEY.

"Barrett's" Locks are unequaled.

Paris, February 16th, 1869.

FRIEND MOLEY:—Having been a subscriber to the NEWS, from the beginning of its existence, and would still like to continue so, but I am compelled to make complaint against somebody. It seems that since I requested you to forward my paper to Lair's Station, I never have been in receipt of but one paper in the last five weeks—other persons receive it at Lair's. If I cannot get the NEWS regularly, I will be compelled to discontinue it. I hope, however, that you will find out where the wrong is and correct it and if I don't receive it regularly in the future, I will notify you to discontinue it, which I will be very sorry to do.

With fraternal regards,
I am, yours, &c.

We wish the postmaster or the person who has charge of the delivery of the mails, would be a little more careful in future; there must be something wrong somewhere, as the papers are mailed regularly from our office, and if they go astray we are not to blame.

INSURANCE.—Insurance is something that every individual should look to, who holds in his or her possession, perishable property. In this day and generation, no one is excusable, who does not insure. A per centage on all that is made is only necessary to save one from ruin, and no kind of procrastination should hold an individual from an underwriter's office one moment. Fire cometh like a thief, oftimes in the night, and all our possessions turn to ashes before our eyes, and we are left penniless in the world. But when the fire cometh, and the owner of the property has a policy in the "Enterprise," or "Hartford Fire," or the "Insurance Co. of North America," for the value of said property, the owner can laugh the Fire Fiend out of countenance, and say "that no wild flames of fire shall blast my hopes." Mr. J. S. Withers at the Commercial Bank in this city, is the agent for these companies. Call and see him.

☞ Mr. D. C. Ferguson arrived home last week, from the East, where he had been with a lot of cattle.

☞ G. R. Sharpe is making about 140 gallons of pure old Bourbon per day, at his Distillery.

☞ Quite a lot of whisky is being taken out of bond at this time, and sold away.

☞ Best quality of Silk Hats at the Stone Front, for five dollars.

☞ W. B. Gibbs, Esq., our old friend and fellow-citizen, is a candidate for Constable. He is a true man, and will make an excellent officer.

☞ Jno. M. Berry, we are pleased to learn, has returned to his old home at Berry's Station, in this county. He is welcome.

☞ Gray & Craig sold a small lot of their pure copper whisky, of this year's make, for $1 20 per gallon.

☞ A young man of first-rate habits and good habits desires to teach a school. Will some one let us know where he can get a school.

☞ Address Dennis Morton, Master Commissioner, returned home with his bride last week. They are looking well.

☞ The stockholders of the State Bank Dividend.

☞ At a stockholders' meeting the vote by charge had one vote now appeal every where. Let it come.

☞ Dr. W. H. Pugh has sold his drug-ware to L. Gray & Co., of Robertson county, for the stock, $8,500.

☞ The last Sunday sermon by Rev. Rogers Stanton, has been remodeled and repaired. Good.

☞ The residence of the late T. J. Cottrell, was sold at public sale on Saturday the 20th inst., for $1,200 in Bonds.

☞ An attempt was made to rape on Irish girl near Earl's, Ky., by some lecherous gentlemen unknown.

☞ Best quality of Silk Hats at the Stone Front, for five dollars.

☞ Money is tight—subscribers very rapidly declining, the notes and accounts having been placed in our hands for collection. Our office is at Dr. Orwell's Drug Store, up-stairs. T. A. FRAZER & H. W. SHAWHAN. Cynthiana, Feb. 25, 1869.—tf

☞ Mr. J. O. Day, has purchased "Clay's Patent Metallic Window Sash," an ingenious contrivance for preventing the entrance of rain and dust at the bottom of windows and doors. It is an excellent and a meritorious invention, and Mr. Day has purchased the county, and will be able to respond to all orders that may be left at his shop.

☞ We have learned from Colonel Keith, the President of the Covington and Lexington railroad, that he will build a platform from Pike st., next to the Smith House, to the depot. A good proposition and a good improvement.

☞ Shannon & Turtoy, are going ahead on the gas question in an enterprising style. Last week we dropped into their store, and we heard they had put up two gas burners, making a splendid light, and is an improvement which none but our friends mentioned above, would have thought of or made up.

☞ Jno. G. Carlisle, Esq., member of the Senate from Kenton, and the representatives in the lower House, from that county, have all signed the pledge to abstain from intoxicating drinks.

☞ On Wednesday, the 18th inst., a difficulty occurred between John Tatton and one James Johnson, in which the latter stabbed the former in abdomen so seriously, that he was disemboweled, and will die. Johnson was arrested and lodged in jail at Falmouth.

☞ On Tuesday last, while the sidewalks were in a very slippery condition, a lady fell down on Main street, but did not hurt herself much. Put ashes on the pavements.

☞ We have learned inadvertently, that our friends, Samuel Ashbrook and Charles Kimbrough, will put up a copper distillery at the place known as Benson Robert's old mill. An admirable place for the business.

☞ The large and extensive distillery, which P. J. Megibbon has been building, will be finished about the first of March, and will commence operations. It will mash 800 bushels of corn per day. The two mash tubs are said to be very large.

☞ Our good-looking and agreeable friend, Jno. Fisher, called at our office last week, and requested us to say that he was not dead and that the report is false. John was the liveliest dead man we ever met.

☞ Mr. R. Goodlroyd and B. F. Utley, have taken the Cynthiana Woolen Mills and propose to commence operations about the 1st of April. They are practical men, and are repairing their machinery at this time and making ready to start. They feel certain that they can give satisfaction.

☞ We understand that Doctor William H. Ires Orr is about to remove to Harrodsburg, in this State, where he has formed a partnership with a relative, in the practice of medicine. We regret to learn that he intends to leave the county, but hope that he may be as successful in his profession as he wishes, and as he deserves.

☞ Mr. W. H. Rose died in this county, on the 19th inst., of consumption, and was buried by the sons of Temperance, last Saturday. He is said to have been a good citizen, and a Christian, by those who knew him well.

☞ Last Monday night, about 8 o'clock, James L. Cadish, a young and promising lawyer of this city, was crossing the bridge in a carriage in company with George Williams, of this place, when the horses became frightened, and ran off the causeway, throwing Mr. C. from the carriage, breaking his left leg, just below the knee.

FEARFUL AND FATAL RUNAWAY TURNPIKE. Quite a number of our good citizens of the Turnpike running from Cynthiana, a distance of eight miles, and we understand that the people of Mount Orab, in Robertson county, will build a splendid iron bridge for the people will join them, to ford Hickman river at Vanhook's Ferry, in dry weather, and use the ferry in high water. Let us have the pike.

COMMENCEMENT. PIKE.—A meeting of the friends of this pike was held at Cynthiana last Saturday, and we understand that it will be put through to completion. Now, we will let the sincerity of our friends stand about Emerson's Mills in Scott county; and know, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on."

CYNTHIANA AND WHITE OAK LIKE.—We have been informed that money enough has been subscribed to finish the like from the church to the fair ground gate at the Fair Ground's and that an effort is now being made to have it finished to the town. Let us have it by all means—and then let us have the bridge at the foot of Pleasant street.

Turnpike Meeting.

The friends of turnpikes and especially those interested in the Claysville and Oddville Pike, will hold a meeting at Oddville, on Saturday March 6th, at the school house in that place. The meeting will be called to order at 11 o'clock.

J. J. Curran, J. W. Horner, Henry Ogle, J. S. Young, Capt. C. M. Leo, T. A. Robertson, A. Williams, D. M. White, J. D. Bacon, T. G. Hayes, Tub Whitely, L. Lehn, &c.

☞ A number of years since, while Judge Trimble, of this county, was candidate for Congress, when Mason county was in this Congressional district, a report was circulated by his opponents that he was dead and in a speech in Mason county, he requested his friends to say, if they heard any person assert that he was dead that they lied, for he was alive. A neighboring paper published a statement to the effect that our much esteemed friend, James Porter, of Montgomery, Va., was dead we are requested to say that he is alive, and will spend next summer in this county.

☞ We are pleased to announce that the young out-law, Mc. Richie who murdered Florence, has been arrested. The officers of the law in the new county of Robertson, are prompt and they deserve the respect of all law-abiding men everywhere.

☞ Mr. Campbell, of this city, is building a new residence on Walnut street.

James C. Wickliff, R. C. Wherritt, and H. M. Magee our postmaster is preparing to build new and elegant homes this coming summer.

☞ On Sunday evening last, at the Smith House, in this city, Mr. F. F. McMeen was married to Miss Belle Cooper. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Wightman. It seems that true love in this instance did not run smooth, so the young people concluded to visit this city, and have themselves made one flesh, as they were in mind. It was successful, and we learned that they returned to their homes, some four miles south of this place, with their hearts all of gladness.

Let friendship make from now their union
MAY BE THE BEST LOVE KNOWS,
In sorrow, misfortune and gladness,
May each be the other's true.

☞ John W. Lee, an Irishman residing in Lexington, Ky., killed his wife last Wednesday morning, on his own place, and afterwards sought to take the life of his little son, a boy of four years old, but as he was becoming weak from loss of blood the child escaped by running under the bed. Lee has been greatly troubled about his pecuniary affairs, and it is supposed that he has become insane, as he was not addicted to drink, and his relations to his wife were of the most harmonious kind.

☞ Joe Ralleigh, the popular and indefatigable circus manager, was in Lexington last week. He has been loitering with his stock, at Danville, Ky., and came to Cynthiana, and to Harrison county, because this is his native place, and because of the recent marriage of his father, which we noticed some weeks since. Joe is an energetic, sober, industrious and successful circus-man. He proposes to make a spring campaign in Kentucky as soon as the weather is sufficiently open to move around. Joe is an active, good looking man, and will certainly become sooner or later, as famous in his line, as Barnum. He says that he intends to marry. We hope he may, and live and do happily.

WHISKY ITEMS.—T. H. Garrett, of Paris sold twenty-five barrels of pure copper whisky, in this city, last week, at good prices.

Ellis & Willmore, of Nicholasville, Ky., sold two hundred barrels of whisky recently, for $1.11 per gallon. They are making an excellent article.

J. H. Lyle's pure copper distillery has commenced operations.

Mr. Taylor's distillery is again in operation, and a stream of "O, be joyful" is gloriously rolling forth.

Peck, Trimble & Vanhook, have already fired up their new whisky distillery, but will not make a mash until March 1st.

☞ Best quality of Silk Hats at the Stone Front, for five dollars.

IN LUCK. Our friend, James A. Cleveland, of the Hawlandsville district, was a comrade-in-arms with us in the late little unpleasantness. He filled the very responsible position of forage master, in Colonel E. C.'s regiment of cavalry, located in the south-western portion of Virginia, and was an excellent soldier. Speaking of matrimony, some such is said, that the "fair" he engages the brave; at least such has been the luck which has befallen our friend Cleveland, for about one year and a half since, he married Miss Ella Raymond, daughter of our friend, David Raymond, and carried her off to his home, where they have dwelt happily together ever since. A few days ago we met Mr. C. on the highway, and he informed us that he had a "rebel soldier" at his house, only three months old. We immediately inquired his name, thinking perhaps that we might have known him, when he informed us that he called himself "Clay Morey." Clay Morey Cleveland, will please accept our compliments with a copy of the "Cynthiana News," for life. Colonel E. Clay will take notice and govern himself accordingly.

$25 THE $25

AMERICAN THUTTLE Sewing Machine.

Is retailed at a price within the reach of all. It uses a straight needle, makes the lock stitch (alike on both sides), has a self adjusting tension and can do every variety of sewing. It will hem, fell, bind, cord, braid, stitch, quilt, tuck, ruffle and gather will work equally as well on silk, linen, woolen or cotton goods, with silk, linen or cotton thread.

THE

AMERICAN SHUTTLE MACHINE IS Warranted for Five Years.

Our agents will be furnished with duplicate parts of the machine in case of accident. It makes precisely the same stitch made by the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Howe, and Florence machines. It has the under-feed, like the best of high-priced machines, and is the only low priced shuttle machine in the market that has this feed. We are enabled to sell a first-class shuttle machine at a very low price, on account of its simplicity, and consequent low cost of manufacturing, in comparison with complicated machines.

AGENTS.

We wish to arrange with agents, male or female, to represent the American Shuttle Sewing Machine, in each State county and town in the United States and Ontario. Extra inducements to experienced agents. For further particulars, as to salary or Commission, address

G. V. N. ANDREWS, Gen. Ag't.
Detroit, Mich.

For the benefit of our agents we have arranged with all parties who have goods suitable for Sewing Machine agents to sell. We will send book of samples and full particulars on receipt of one red stamp. Address G. V. N. Andrews, General Agent, Detroit, Mich. Dec5 6Msly

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has been higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its wholesome character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the analogous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and in fact all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in no wise injures our patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.
